General

According to the National Agricultural Statistics Service in Alabama, there were 5.8 days suitable for fieldwork for the week ending Sunday, October 16, 2022. Precipitation ranged from trace amounts to 2.9 inches. Average high temperatures ranged from the low 70s to the mid 80s. Average low temperatures ranged from the low 40s to the high 50s.

Crops

Most of the state received between one and two inches of much needed rainfall the past week, although additional rain was still needed in many areas. Cotton bolls opening neared completion with harvest starting to pick up the pace. Peanut digging and harvest, aided by the rain, continued to make strong progress. Soybean leaves dropping neared completion and harvest continued in areas that received less rain. Winter wheat planting continued in areas where moisture levels were suitable.

Livestock and Pastures

Cattle continued to be in mostly good condition. Pasture conditions remained mostly fair to good. Summer grasses were starting to go dormant, and some pastures continued to deteriorate due to dry conditions the past few months.
