COMMERCIAL FLORICULTURE SURVEY

LINCOLN, Neb. May 21, 2024 – Floriculture estimates for 2023 are now available, according to the USDA’s National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS). The estimates cover all 50 states. The top 28 states are published individually with the remaining states combined into the “other states” total. The data release will provide the number of operations, area of production, quantity sold, and average number of agricultural workers per operation.

The data can be accessed using the NASS Quick Stats database at quickstats.nass.usda.gov. View the highlights at <https://www.nass.usda.gov/Publications/Highlights/index.php>
